

PROFESSIONAL

Jeweller

JUNE 2011 / VOL. 02 ISSUE 06
www.professionaljeweller.com

NEWS, ANALYSIS AND TRENDS FOR JEWELLERY & WATCH PROFESSIONALS

WILLIAM CHESHIRE

LJW JEWELS PHOTOSHOOT

HOW YOU CAN GET IT LIGHT

TREND FOCUS ON OUTLINES

MY LIFE
AFTER LINKS

Elizabeth Galton is back and she's got her sights set on online jewellery retail

THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT

Preview some of the freshest talent from the upcoming New Designers show

LET'S

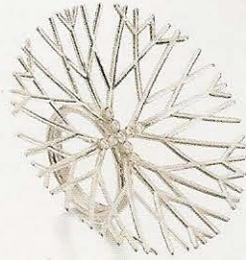

Hunt

Discover the treasures awaiting you in our unmissable guide to London Jewellery Week

ALSO INSIDE YOUR COPY OF WATCHPRO'S
WATCHES OF THE YEAR 2011

RISING STARS OF TREASURE 2011

This year's London Jewellery Week is the biggest to date and more jewellers than ever have signed up to appear at selling show Treasure at Victoria House. Among the more familiar faces you are likely to find within the halls are some important new designers who are likely to prove interesting over the next 12 months. Here's Professional Jeweller's pick of the rising stars you need to see at the show.

Mahtab Hanna

Mahtab Hanna studied at the Hampstead School of Art, Central Saint Martins and London Metropolitan University. Her Persian background has influenced her designs, which fuse contemporary high fashion with wearability, with an east-meets-west feel. Designs incorporate plastics, ceramics, glass, fabrics, precious metals, pearls and gemstones. Of her collections, Hanna says: "I like to explore both the artificial and the natural elements of materials that I use, mixing hand-made design with technology to leave a lasting impression."